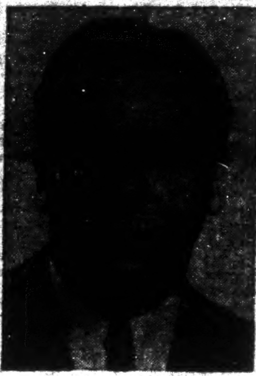
Philadelphia Youth Rally 3 Years Old



PAUL G. MEYER

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 29—The Philadelphia Youth for Christ Broadcasts are held under the direction of a live-wire youth organization called Youthcast. Headed by Paul G. Meyer, this group has had an exceptional record in the past three years. It started meeting in homes, then successively moved to the basement of the Chelten Ave. Baptist Church, the upstairs, and then to the Church of the Open Door.

Next Fall the group plans to move to a large downtown auditorium. Starting a year and a half ago with a 15-minute radio program on Thursday night, the Youthcast now has the only Youth for Christ program in Philadelphia, and it comes directly from the great rally from 7:30 to 8 P. M. over WDAS. Another venture has been gospel advertising in the trolleys and subways in the city. Youthcast has now 265 of these Gospel car cards. The latest venture in this expanding work is a new youth magazine. Growing out of a small monthly paper, Youthcast magazine has now been enlarged to 32 pages, and is going out over the whole country. It is styled for the times in a way that will appeal to youth, and has articles that will challenge and edify as well as thrill.

The significant thing about this work is the evident blessing of God. Starting without backing, and stepping out entirely on faith, God has blessed, and met every need. Starting small, and without sensational programs and approaches, souls have been born again, and young people challenged for Christ. There are still great things ahead for those who will take God at is word, and step out on His promises. God Still Is Able!

Summer Camps and Vacation Resorts

13,500 Attend Youth For Christ Rally

MIAMI, Florida, May 14 — 13,500 attended the Youth for Christ Rally in the Orange Bowl Stadium Saturday night. The pageantry and the message will be remembered long by those who were privileged to attend. The testimony for Jesus Christ made a profound impression upon this city. There were fifteen visible professions of faith.

Participating on the program of "Miami's greatest religious festival" were Dr. Daniel Iverson, chairman, pastor of the Shenandoah Presbyterian Church; Dr. Roy C. Angell, pastor of the Central Baptist Church; Dr. William Childs Robinson, Columbia Theological Seminary, Decatur, Georgia, and Rev. H. G. Cowan, pastor of the Feaster Memorial Methodist Church.

The Youth for Christ meetings will continue on Saturday nights throughout the summer. From June to October the Bayfront Park, which will seat comfortably over three thousand people, will be used.

Washington Churches Gather For Rally

BELLINGHAM, Wash., May 20—Several churches in this city joined today in a rally for the district association of Evangelicals.

The meeting was held in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church. Dr. F. Francis Hall, chairman of the district, presided. Messages were brought by the Rev. William H. Nagel and Dr. J. Elwin Wright. The same speakers were heard in morning and evening services at the Evangelical and United Presbyterian churches of Bellingham and the Baptist church of Lyndon. All services were well attended. The work is well organized and in a healthy state in this area.

Do We Or Don't We?

WASHINGTON, May 28 — In the April 4th issue of "United Evangelical Action," we issued the release of the War Committee on Conventions regarding Religious Camps and Summer Assemblies. When the committee sponsored by the National Association of Evangelicals called on the War Committee in this city in February, the average program and purpose of Evangelical summer vacation camps was presented. In due time, the March ruling was given as a reply to our inquiring. The ruling was as follows:

"Church Camps and Summer Assemblies, both Youth and Adult Camps and Summer Assemblies which follow the normal vacation camping pattern, combining recreation and instruction, are beyond the scope of this Committee and do not require a permit. However, they may not be made the vehicle for conventions, institutes or other types of meetings which come within the presently restricted type of meeting. Such meetings held at camps and summer assembly grounds require permits."

To the confusion of many, an "amplification" of the previous ruling was sent out by the War Committee on Conventions late in April. This new form of the ruling, which we quote below, brought in streams of inquiries to our Boston office asking if the government had changed its mind and why they had changed the ruling. Here is the "amplification" as contained in a letter written to Dr. J. Elwin Wright by Mr. Frank Perrin, Secretary of the War Committee on Conventions:

"Church Camps and Summer Assemblies — Camps and summer assemblies which follow the normal vacation camping pattern, combining recreation and instruction, but with recreation — swimming, boating, fishing, hiking, woodcraft, handicraft and the like predominating, and with only incidental instruction in non-camping subjects, are beyond the scope of this Committee and do not require permits. The fact that a camp has followed a certain pattern over a long period of years does not establish that camp as one which follows the "normal vacation camping pattern."

"Camps may not be made the vehicle for conventions, institutes or other types of meetings. Such meetings held at camps require permits, and it is the present Committee practice to deny them."

"It is the intent of the Committee to give the same privileges and likewise place the same restrictions upon resorts conducted by religious groups, as applied to other public and private resorts. Conventions, meetings or gatherings of out-of-town persons require a permit regardless of the type of resort at which they are held."

"The various denominations use the words "camp," "camp meeting," "conference," "assembly," and perhaps other nomenclature in describing particular events. Regardless of the name given the event, and regardless of whether it is housed in a permanent summer camp, a school or perhaps in the woods beside a stream or lake, it is the Committee's opinion that it is very easy for the sponsors of a particular event to determine whether or not it is primarily and predominantly for recreation and vacation purposes. The schedule of the particular event itself will very clearly indicate (i.e. if, as stated above, it is primarily and predominantly recreational, a permit is not required from this Committee."

"The Committee fully reconizes that many denominations have a considerable fixed investment in what might be termed "resort Properties." It was for that reason that the predominantly recreational camping pattern was adopted in order that these properties, which in many cases adjoin public resort propties, could be placed upon an equal basis for continuance while the present restrictions upon group meetings are in effect. Inasmuch as group meetings at public resorts or private resorts are not permissible, the Committee could not consistently permit such meetings at a religious resort center without adverse criticism from the other groups."

Donations Are Urgently Needed To Finance Clothing Relief Distribution

NEW YORK, May 28—Clothing drives have poured relief goods into the N.A.E. War Relief Commission warehouse located at 436 West 46th Street in this city. A corps of volunteer workers is busily engaged each day at the warehouse headquarters in processing and baling these gifts of clothing for shipment overseas.

All the materials for processing and baling must be purchased new and must conform to strict specifications. The cost for processing and shipping a small bale of goods containing enough to clothe ten people is $5,000. $10.00 will send a larger bale with enough clothing for twenty people.

Over fifteen thousand pounds of clothing have already been distributed in Belgium. A second shipment has just reached there, and another is already on its way.

With victory in Europe, doors are opening for this Commission to enter more countries with relief. It is our earnest prayer that nothing may hinder this challenge, but it will be possible humanly speaking only if cash gifts for this work keep pace with the gifts of clothing. While the National Association of Evangelicals sponsors this project of bringing relief to the suffering millions abroad, the War Relief Commission is not subsidized by the Association. The work is supported entirely by free will offerings. That is why your cash contributions are so greatly needed!

This evangelical missionary testimony is providing physical relief to go with a gospel witness. Will you not support it with your prayers and with your gifts? Contributions should be sent to

GOOD NEWS FROM ITALY

A new's item has this moment come to our desk bringing an interesting report of conditions obtaining in Italy. This report comes through the medium of three American Clergymen—the Revs. Robert W. Anthony, Dr. P. J. Zaccara, and Dr. W. Dewey Moore. It appears that these men for the past three months have been traveling throughout Italy to survey the conditions of Protestants and their churches.

At the present time these travelers are reported to have returned to Naples to await transportation back to the United States.

Protestants in Italy have been through the fire, but, like the three Hebrew children, they have lost nothing save the cords that bound them, and certainly, they have become better acquainted with the One whose face "is the face of the Son of God." How binding and severe these Fascist cords have been only those who have endured them can know. Thank God, our brethren in Italy have been delivered from them, and have been brought to the dawn of a new day offering a new door of utterance. They stand upon the threshold of a new opportunity and service.

How marvelously God has kept some of his devoted saints is best told by those who have had contact with these men of faith and courage. In the Waldensian Valley, a stronghold of Protestantism in Italy, these clergymen found all the pastors were safe and that only one church had been damaged. The protective wall of God's presence had been thrown around the saints, delivering them from the fury of wicked.

From this fascinating report it seems evident that God has been sparing his saints for the larger witness. "A great and effectual door is now open for the preaching of the Gospel in northern Italy. This is the Lord's doing and it is marvelous in our eyes.

All over northern Italy which the Army permitted the clergymen to cover thoroughly in the immediate wake of the troops, the story is gratifyingly similar. Some churches will have to be repaired, and a few will have to be rebuilt, but congregations are full of courage and initiative. We are informed that "with a modest amount of help from America, the pre-war status should be achieved within a short time."

Coming to southern and central Italy, the story is quite different, the clergymen found, and yet even in places most seriously ravaged by the war they were deeply impressed by the hopeful spirit

Spiritual Quips

By DR. BOB JONES, SR.

Founder Bob Jones College

On the Day of Pentecost, Peter said, "Jesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you by miracles and wonders and signs, which God did by him in the midst of us, as ye yourselves also know". There was no excuse for men rejecting Jesus. They saw what He did. They heard Him talk. He spoke as never man spoke. He did things that no man ever did. The only explanation is that He was the Son of God. After He rose from the dead when Thomas saw the scars in His hands in that room, he said, "My Lord and My God". Men rejected Jesus because they wanted their way instead of God's way. He always turned on the light and wicked men did not want the light turned on. Wicked men never look well in the light of His presence.

Jesus Christ was the Word made flesh. The Bible is a living Word. Men are against the Bible for the same reason they are against the Lord Jesus Christ. They are not against the Bible because it is a bad book. They are against it because it is a good book and they are bad and this good book condemns them. Men do not want to be condemned. They want to feel that they are self-sufficient and able to save themselves. The Bible teaches that man is lost and that he cannot do anything to save himself except to accept what the Lord Jesus Christ has done. It is clearly taught that men are not saved by what they do but by accepting by faith what the Lord Jesus Christ has done. There is something in man's human nature that resents the idea that something is done for him which he cannot do for himself. Many of us who have tried to help people know from experience that when you do something for someone, his natural inclination is to say, "I did it myself" or "I could have done it myself." Men usually get a thrill by feeling that they are self-made.

No man is really self-made. If we are physically fit we owe that to God, to our parents, and to the help we have had along life's way. If we have good minds, we are born with them and we owe a debt of obligation to God Who did not let us come into this world idiots. If we can talk it is because there is a tongue in our mouths that God put there and we should use our tongue for His glory. If we can see, it is because He gave us eyes and we should use our eyes for Him. Every good thing we have came from God and however hard it may be for us to understand it, it is still true that all bad things are permitted by God. Even the bad things in this world work together for good to them who love God and who are the called according to His purpose. When we get to heaven we will thank God for the sorrows and tears and troubles we had as we journeyed along life's way. Sometimes the best thing for us is the thing that is hardest to bear.

Young Life Campaign to Hold "Workshop" This Summer

WHEATON, Ill., May 26 — A significant contribution will be made in June toward strengthening the leadership of Evangelicals in reaching America's young people with the gospel. The Young Life Campaign, for five years active as a missionary movement to high school students, has announced a Workshop to be held in conjunction with the Inter-Session at Wheaton College, Ill., June 12 to 22.

Many pastors, and young people's leaders will be present to take part in seminar discussions of the problems in this field, and will be led by Jim Rayburn, national director of the campaign. It is his conviction that any successful ministry to the unreached millions of America's youth, whether through the church or independently, must proceed on tried and proven missionary principles. These principles will be presented at the first Leadership Training Institute to be held at Wheaton. Addison Sewell, Midwest director, and Wally Howard, Oregon director, will also represent the Young Life Campaign.

The campaign, a band of "missionaries to young people," has been actively engaged in a diversified ministry among high school students since its inception five years ago. At present, 26 leaders, most of them ordained ministers with adequate training for a sound, Bible-centered ministry, are working in nine states and carrying on a weekly ministry to thousands of young people, many of them beyond the reach of ordinary gospel channels, in 56 different communities. The ministry also embraces a series of summer camps, and a widely circulated monthly picture magazine, "Young Life," designed to attract disinterested young people to the gospel of Christ.

Cuff Notes by Cook

Bob Cook is Co-Pastor of the Mid-West Bible Church in Chicago, Ill.

One things that came out of the Youth Conference held April 27-28 at the Stevens Hotel, in Chicago was the profound conviction that Youth for Christ has a God-given job to do in reaching masses of young people with the Gospel NOW. Problems posed by the speeded-up age in which we live . . . complicated by the war . . made technical by our conditioning to the scientific gadgets surrounding us . . . problems toc great for the average church and preacher—these are the conditions for which God has provided Youth for Christ!

By the same token, it was vigorously declared that YFC can never hope to do the work intended for the local church! Nothing can take the place of the godly, faithful pastor, the systematic Bible teaching, and the spiritually homelike atmosphere of the place young and old love to call "MY church!"

Youth for Christ, properly launched, and kept on a cooperative basis, can be God's instrument for revival in this dreadfully needy age—reaching thousands with the Gospel in a short time. For teaching, for correction for instruction in righteousness however, there is no substitute for the Word of God as presented by the local church and pastor.

Torrey Johnson spoke recently at Tulsaland Youth for Christ . . . flew down and back to Chicago in time to blow in for his weekly stint at Orchestra Hall. TMJ has recently been headlined at Grand Rapids, Milwaukee, Toronto.

A reporter at Chicagoland Youth for Christ the other night expressed amazement at the there." What she didn't know is that "If ANY man be in Christ he is a new Creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." Youth for Christ kids are a "high type"—of course. But so is anybody that has been born again.

At this writing, plans for Chicagoland Memorial Day Rally in Soldier Field were complete: Tanks, planes, jeeps . . . twin globes dramatically lighted for a giant missionary pageant . . . international celebrities . . . special recognition to military personnel and Gold Star mothers . . . choir of 5,000 . . . band of 300 . . . a living cross of 400 nurses—and a lot of other things to make it the outstanding religious meeting of history, for the glory of God.

By C. Stacey Woods

"To know Him and to make Him known"—for 17 years this simple motto has summed up the purpose of the Bible League at the University of California.

The Bible League's spacious house is located directly across from the campus. Upstairs 18 girls live on the second and third floors, while fellows are quartered in the basement. Center of Bible League activities is the first floor, with library, kitchen and three spacious rooms which may be converted into one large hall accomodating 250.

Sometimes it is called the "Miracle House". And with good reason. When a handful of Christian students began meeting in the basement of a store near the campus several years ago, they prayed that they would be a blessing to campus friends but also for a more adequate place to which these friends could be invited. As a result, they soon leased a 20-room house next to the football field which served for a year or two until it was condemned as too old to be safe.

After prayer and long looking, they found a fraternity house for sale, and marching to the real estate office with a few hundred dollars they were able to scrape together, offered it as down payment with a promise of $300 a month to follow until the $40,000 house was paid for. Miraculously, the ridiculous offer was accepted, and the University of California Bible League moved in. Students, friends and listeners to the League's teacher-counsellor Vernon Morgan's morning broadcast have kept the payments intact.

Bible League's typical week begins with the Monday noon student discussion group. In the animated exchange of viewpoints, many students find the answers to perplexing problems.

On Tuesday evening at 5 the crowd eats together. First-timers enjoy a wholesome meal on the house, and the rest eat at cost. Table conversation has been the means of helping students over rough spots. At 7, the meeting begins, with singing, testimonies and a message by Mr. Morgan.

Wednesday noon is the prayer hour. Various prayer groups meet throughout the week, but the Wednesday hour is designed to include all Christian students. Seldom attended by strangers, this prayer time is an opportunity to bring before the Lord, the needs of the work.

Thursday noon Bible Class is again conducted by Mr. Morgan, with the exception of every fourth Thursday which is set aside for Foreign Mission Fellowship chapter and usually features a missionary speaker.

Friday noon buffet luncheon, again free to newcomers, is the climax of the week's program. A Bible lesson by the Consellor or a visiting speaker is presented informally, followed by distribution of the League's weekly publication, "Power."

Monthly parties, called Friday Fireside Fellowships, always reach their high point in the devotional period following the games and preceding the refreshments. Servicemen studying on the campus are entertained on the Friday nights between the regular parties.

To every incoming student, including servicemen, is mailed appropriate literature — for example, the "His Triumph," university edition of John's Gospel — together with an invitation to Bible League and a circular explaining activities.

The League is further publicized by deputation groups visiting churches in the region.

No possible channel of communication with the unsaved is ignored. Members conduct group visitation to homes, dorms and boarding houses. Some teach Bible classes in high school leagues, others serve in nearby missions.

On Sunday evenings Bible League goes on the air on Vernon Morgan's radio program — Biblecasts — with student testimonies as to the Lord's sufficiency on the campus. Recently a short-wave outlet for this program was obtained on "The Voice of the Andes," HCJB.

The Alumni Fellowship sponsors and supports a student worker who conducts Bible classes informally in the girls' dorms.

The work is growing, as indeed it must, to keep pace with the need, for the University expects an enrollment of 26,000, including 5,000 veterans, after the war. To a campus of students [illegible] League [illegible] "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation."

(The foregoing article was a condensation of "House by the Side of the Campus" by Helene Piley, in the May issue of HIS, Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship monthly.)

Minneapolis Youth For Christ Celebrates 1st Anniversary

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. May 28—Pruth McFarlin was the musical highlight at the First Anniversary Rally of Minneapolis Youth for Christ. The audience of 9,000 was thrilled by the Negro spirituals sung by America's leading Negro tenor. Mr. McFarlin, who recently signed a contract with the University of Minnesota artists' course, is a graduate of Southern University with a B.A. degree and took special work with the Eastman School of Music and is studying under Frank LaForge, the eminent pianist-composer and voice teacher, who is the coach and teacher of Lawrence Tibbett, Lily Pons, and Richard Crooks. Since two years of age, Pruth McFarlin has been crippled by paralysis. But that does not affect the beautiful texture of his mezza voice. The audience sat in absolute silence as this gifted young singer presented his delightful message in song with a heart feeling seldom heard in any singer. He gave a wonderful testimony of his faith and trust in Christ. Pruth McFarlin is destined to be named among the great singers of our day and it was indeed a privilege for Minneapolis Youth for Christ to have him present at our First Anniversary Rally.

A 30-minute concert was given by the 65-piece Youth for Christ Band directed by Gerhard Lee, interspersed with organ duos played by Theodore Bergman of the MacPhail School of Music, Minneapolis, and Mrs. Loren Bridges of Eau Claire, Wisconsin. At the grand pianos for the evening were Almeda Johnson and Mrs. Pruth McFarlin. George L. Edstrom led the 9,000 audience in a great hymn-sing.

At 8 o'clock the audience broke into the great hymn, "He lives, Christ Jesus lives within my heart" as the 30-minute radio broadcast was begun. Three testimonies were given on the radio by visiting servicemen. Clifford Olson, a Minneapolis boy from the Quartermaster Corps, 2nd Class, who had just come back from three years combat in the Phillipines, said: "Boy, it's great to know Christ and to really know He saves. I have been saved seven years and He's never failed." Cpl. David Dodds, 33 months prisoner of the Japanese in Bilibid prison said, "I want to thank Clifford Olson for his part in delivering me from Bilibid prison in Manila." The third testimony was by Yeoman 3rd Class, Irving Carlson, who said, "I feel a little out of place with these old salts who have been in prison camps and who have been in battle. My only sea duty has been a half day on Lake Minnetonka, but I praise the Lord that even in the cities of California you do need a Savior who can protect you from harm."

The 25-voice chorus of the Lutheran Bible School of Fergus Falls, that just returned from a tour of eastern cities, was directed by William Wendahl. Special numbers were given by the usual staff members, George Edstrom and Adora Norlander.

Chaplain Harold G. Martin of the Royal Canadian Airforce stationed at Mt. Hope, Ontario, Can., centered his message on the theme "Jesus Only," and in a very few minutes after giving the invitation, scores across the audience indicated their decision for Christ. Minneapolis truly has felt the impact of this great spiritual emphasis on Saturday night, both in testimony and in song.

John Carrara Gives Report Of Western Trip

FAIRVIEW, N. J., May 28—We have just concluded a five months tour of meetings on the Pacific Coast, taking us from Los Angeles on up the coast to Bellingham, Washington.

During our five months we ministered at Los Angeles, Compton, and South Gate, California, with the Brethren group. From there we travelled 1200 miles up the coast to Salem, Oregon, with an Evangelical church. This meeting brought out, the pastor said, the largest attendance in the history of the church. Some nights we had as high as 800 in attendance. The following meetings then took up up to the Baptist Church in Hoquiam, Custer, Tacoma, Bellingham, Wash., and also included both Salem and Albany, Oregon.

During this trip, I had the opportunity of speaking at the following Youth Rallies: Salem, Oregon, where I was the speaker for two Saturday nights; Aberdeen and Tacoma, Washington, and Albany, Oregon.

I am happy to say that in each meeting, the Lord gave us some very precious jewels. In some meetings we saw the moving of the Holy Spirit in a very wonderful and unusual way, bringing many face to face with their need of the Saviour.

We have now returned East and will continue here in Canton, Ohio, until June 10 at the Baptist Tabernacle. June 12 to 23, I will be with the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Toledo, Ohio.

Chilton's Corner

of the Protestant pastors and their congregations. Dr. Zaccara states that the Protestant Christians "are touchingly grateful for encouragement and any mention of aid from America."

Hopeful as this report is, it is tinged with sadness as these men record some grim stories of the recent past. It seems that one incident particularly grieved them. They tell of an incident when the Germans refused to permit twenty-five young patriots about to be executed to see their pastors before being killed. This occurred in Torre Pellice, a village about twenty-five miles southwest of Turin, in the heart of the Waldensian Valley.

Since the Word of God exhorts us "to rejoice with them that rejoice and to weep with those that weep," it should be the glad experience of all evangelical Christians throughout our fellowship to rejoice with our brethren in Italy in the happy release that has come to them from the Fascist yoke, but beyond this, it must be ours to carry a burden of prayer on their behalf that God may make "the crooked things straight and the rough places plain" that the glory of the Lord way be revealed in a gracious revival.

Let us not forget to pray also that our War Relief Commission, whose excellent report appears in another column, may be enabled to get relief to our suffering brethren in Europe; only let us remember that faith and works must be united if this ministry of mercy is to be fully realized.

We conclude CHILTON'S CORNER with this present issue. These fortnightly chats with our readers have been more than enjoyable and we shall miss them much.

Permit me to thank the many who brought us their words of grateful appreciation of some of the things we have tried to say, (sometimes in a blundering manner because of the pressure of other duties) and we want you to know that these words came to us as a means of help and as a great source of blessing and inspiration. May God bless you all.

NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF EVANGELICALS — STATEMENT OF FAITH . . .

1. We believe the Bible to be the inspired, the only infallible, authoritative word of God.
2. We believe that there is one God, eternally existent in three persons: Father, Son and Holy Spirit.
3. We believe in the deity of our Lord Jesus Christ, in His virgin birth, in His sinless life, in His miracles, in His vicarious and atoning death through His shed blood, in His bodily resurrection, in His ascension to the right hand of the Father, and in His personal return to power and glory.
4. We believe that for the salvation of lost and sinful man, regeneration by the Holy Spirit is absolutely essential.
5. We believe in the present ministry of the Holy Spirit by whose indwelling the Christian is enabled to live a godly life.
6. We believe in the resurrection of both the saved and the lost; they that are saved unto the resurrection of life and they that are lost unto the resurrection of damnation.
7. We believe in the spiritual unity of believers in Christ.

THE CHRISTIAN CENTURY "VIEWS WITH ALARM"

The modernists are fond of referring to the inaccuracies of fundamentalists and their own care in getting the facts.

We note an instance of departure from the factual in the editorial comments of our more or less esteemed contemporary, The Christian Century, in its issue of May 16. The editorial is entitled "Are Evangelicals Being Taken for a Ride?" After commenting on various commissions of the National Association of Evangelicals, reference is made to our commission for Industrial Chaplaincies. The writer is well enough informed to know the positions in industry which the various members of the commission occupy, but appears to be inexcusably ignorant of the character of these men or the real purposes of their work.

We quote from the editorial: "An elaborate brochure has been prepared. Prominently featured are letters from presidents of companies who endorse the industrial chaplaincy. Three of the letters are from officers of the commission, eight of whose eleven members are presidents or vice-presidents of manufacturing corporations. No union official is a member of the commission, and none is quoted as endorsing the project. The commission has prepared an application blank to enroll chaplains. A variety of questions are asked in its four pages, but ordination to the Christian ministry and membership in a union is not among them. All of this raises a question as to the real purpose behind the move. If it envisages a valid ministry to industrial workers, it can find its support among those whom it benefits. If it is an attempt by employers to use the office of the ministry to keep workers docile under sub-standard wages and to make the company church a substitute for the illegal company union, it will fail as it deserves to fail. And not only the National Association of Evangelicals but the churches generally will pay the price of that failure."

While we heartily disagree with much that Charles Clayton Morrison says in his magazine, we have found much to admire in some of his utterances which seem to be frank and unbiased, sometimes at the expense of his modernists cronies. We regret that he undertakes to impugn the motives of the members of this commission, who are working sacrificially and unselfishly to win the workers of America to Christ and the church. If he would take the time and pains to examine the records of these industrialists, he would find that they are among the most progressive and generous employers of this country in the treatment of their employees.

The Commission for Industrial Chaplaincies has been authorized by the Executive Committee to add to its membership. An earnest effort has been made, and is still being made, to find a labor executive qualified to sit on the commission. The qualifications include subscription without mental reservation to the N.A.E. statement of faith. Dr. Morrison or anyone else will confer a favor on us by directing us to one or more labor leaders who can and will do this.

It seems to be one of the chief functions of the modernists to promote the slander that industrialists all have hoofs and horns, and that they are out to oppress the laboring man. We hope that the editor of the Christian Century won't break his arches jumping to conclusions in his effort to add a little more fuel to the controversy over "The class struggle."

J. Elwin Wright.

Conferences–

The sentence placed in bold face (by us) taken with the general content of this new ruling, would make it impossible to hold a public religious service at a camp. We were convinced, however, that the Committee did not mean that. Dr. Wright wrote Mr. Perrin in reply to this new ruling on May 9, as follows, and we quote in part:

"My dear Mr. Perrin:

"Your letter of July 27 addressed to me as acting editor of "United Evangelical Action," was delayed in reaching me. I am replying from Denver.

"To say that I was amazed at the new interpretation of the decision of your committee regarding summer conferences, assemblies, and camp meetings is putting it mildly.

"I was the chairman of the committee which met Mr. Clare on Feb. 13 at your offices in Washington. Our committee officially represented 110 of the leading assemblies of this type in America. Mr. Clare asked that one of us be appointed to act for the committee and I was chosen. I later asked Mr. Clare to recognize Rev. Clyde W. Taylor, director of our Washington office, as our deputy as he was within reach at all times.

"Our argument for allowing the conferences to be held this season was that they are the vacation places of many thousands of Christian people and should not be closed unless secular vacation places were closed also. To allow one type of vacation place to operate and force another to close would be discriminatory and unfair. Not only that but it would be discrimination against religion, which, I am sure, is far from your desire and intention.

"We outlined the pattern followed by these assemblies which, of course, varies in different places as to the exact times and periods allowed for instruction, entertainment and recreation but in general represents the normal program. This includes morning sessions devoted to worship, instruction or inspiration, afternoons devoted to rest or sports and evenings which include worship or entertainment features.

"This new order apparently permits the conference centers to operate but forbids the gathering of the conference guests in public services, for your new order says, 'Inasmuch as group meetings at public resorts or private resorts are not permissible, the Committee could not consistently permit such meetings at a religious resort center wthout adverse criticism from other groups.'

"Your Committee is undertaking to say that these people may enjoy the recreational features but they must not go to meeting. This would seem to be in direct conflict with the constitutional rights of our citizens and would certainly arouse a storm of protest that would be heard from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

"We believe every organization conducting such conferences to be not only willing but anxious to give hearty co-operation to your Committee in its effort to relieve the congestion on the railroads this season. Therefore, the plans for these conferences were suspended until we could receive your directive. This was issued early in March and in good faith these organizations proceeded with their plans according to its provisions. Now comes this new interpretation which upsets the previous one.

"Meanwhile, practically every conference in the country, except a very few which had decided to remain closed previous to your directive of March 9, has confirmed the engagement of speakers and personnel, issued advertising, accepted registrations and in general has prepared to carry on the usual program. To order a closing of these conferences now would result in endless confusion and great financial loss to the churches and organizations which sponsor them."

Many others besides Dr. Wright wrote or called on the Committee for further clarification. A large group of religious leaders came to Washington during the first week of May and had a conference with the Committee. Later, by way of summary, Bishop Flint of this city, who was present, wrote a report on their conference. On May 14, Rev. Clyde W. Taylor and Rev. Dale Crowley had a two-hour interview with members of the Committee regarding this "amplification" of the original ruling. During this interview, Mr. Perrin read the report Bishop Flint had written, and stated that it embodied in different phraseology the ruling on summer assemblies. We asked Mr. Perrin to secure permission to publish all or part of this letter, and we quote, in part:

"The original order from Judge Byrnes and the late President Roosevelt, under the wartime authority, was to shut off group meetings, not directly essential to the war effort. That order did not include recreational and vacation groups, and this has been a source of embarrassment to the administrators from the beginning.

"Col. Johnson, Mr. Perrin and their committee have no authority and no right to interfere with agencies following 'the normal vacation camping pattern.' They wish commercial camps had also been excluded, and, if they had the power, would now exclude them. The fact that these do not require a permit is in the original 'charter'; they were deliberately omitted then. This is not an interpretation of the War Committee on Conventions (nor in accord with their wishes).

"When, however, the camp becomes a 'group meeting' (i. e., when the non-recreational features are a 'major' instead of a 'minor,' or are more than 'incidental'), it comes within their power or rather comes within their duty. Announcements, propaganda, advertising, or 'program,' which attract or increase attendance, which excite, encourage or increase travel, require a permit—which they cannot grant under the trust and duty laid upon them.

"A Committee of these Church representatives later drew up a 'Statement of Interpretation' based on their conversations with Col. Johnson and Mr. Perrin, as follows:

"FIRST, ODT faces a gigantic task in providing the transportation facilities necessary to winning the war, which task will be heavier while soldiers are being transported from the European to the Pacific front. For this reason, ODT discourages all travel for whatever purpose.

SECOND, according to Col. Johnson, the ruling of War Mobilizer Byrnes did not cover meetings called for recreational purposes. Therefore, such meetings may be held by the Church, as well as by secular agencies, without permit from ODT.

"Col. Johnson understands that boards and agencies who will call meetings for recreational purposes may provide instruction and worship for the people who attend. There is no desire to discriminate against meetings called by the Church in favor of meetings called by secular agencies, nor does he specify the number of hours of instruction and worship which may be included in a meeting called primarily for vacation purposes.

"We believe that those religious agencies which go ahead with their Summer Camps, Conferences and Assemblies will not encounter difficulties with ODT, provided that the primary emphasis in their announcements is upon vacation opportunities.

"In regard to "SECOND" above—Church camps, as all other camps, which are primarily recreational (though including, as "minor" other activities such as worship or educational), are outside the scope of the ODT and do not require a permit.

"If, however, they major on other-than-recreational—if the primary emphasis is on other features—reluctantly, permits must be withheld.

"In the course of the conversation with the larger group, Col. Johnson said, "I have no one out watching you, nor will I have." The impression given was that the control of the Church groups could be left to their honor, conscience and loyalty."

We would conclude that church camps and vacation resorts may certainly continue their activities this summer, but they are reminded that they are functioning as vacation resorts for recreation. Religious services and meetings most certainly may be held but it must be borne in mind that those who attend are there primarily for a vacation and recreation.

Roving Reporter

Rev. Clarence S. Roddy, professor of English Bible at Eastern Baptist Seminary in Philadelphia, has just completed a tour of several West Coast cities in the interest of the Conservative Baptist Foreign Mission Board. His ministry was received with enthusiasm at the First Baptist Church in San Diego and the Hinson Memorial Baptist Church in Portland, Oregon. Your reporter found him in the latter place and had the joy of a day of fellowship. There are several theological institutions on the West Coast that are making gestures in Mr. Roddy's direction, but no immediate change is in prospect as he loves his work at Eastern and is beloved by the students there.

Dr. Charles E. Fuller and Dr. Walter A. Maier, the two men who are privileged to bring the gospel message to more people than any other persons in all history, have never met. They nearly did meet however, on May 11 when they were within a few miles of each other. Mr. Fuller was in Oakland and Dr. Maier across the Bay in San Francisco. Dr. Maier was unable to arrive in Oakland before Dr. Fuller had to leave to catch his plane for Los Angeles. Otherwise your reporter would have had the joy of introducing these two great leaders to each other.

The recent opening of the regional office of N.A.E. in Los Angeles marks an important milestone in the development of work in this area. Rev. J. Theodore Zamrezil, the director, has had a long and successful ministry as a pastor, evangelist and district superintendent of the Christian and Missionary Alliance. He has held pastorates in Palm Beach and Orlando, Florida, and in Oakland, California. We welcome him to the growing circle of executives who are assuming responsible positions in N.A.E., and bid him God speed.

The decision as to the date and place of the 1946 convention of the National Association of Evangelicals will be of interest to leaders all over the country. Notations should be made now to avoid the later discovery that conflicting engagements have been made. If you are intending to be present next year put this down in your book—Chicago, April 30-May 3. And remember that there will be a number of very important pre-conference sessions commencing about April 23.

The Northwest area is planning to institute monthly Bible conferences in principal cities of Washington and Oregon in the autumn of this year. Outstanding leaders will be placed on a circuit of these cities with meetings on consecutive days. About ten cities will comprise the circuit.

BOOK REVIEWS

By Charles G. E. Chilton

GLORIOUS TRIUMPH

By LOUISE HARRISON McCRAW

There are novels that may be spoken of as brain children, and ain there are stories that are the offspring of the heart—a heart at has suffered and struggled, and one that has sought and found. This story is to be placed in the second category.

There are those who accuse this author of being "preachy" in style, an element which some resent, but a very careful perusal this work does not justify this conclusion nor establish this finding. It is evident that the writer is swayed by one motive and minated by one great purpose. One cannot escape the conviction at here we have fiction functioning for a divine end, but this does mar the work; it really makes it. If one author can write to y life on Cape Cod, and another can write to set forth ways living in the frozen North, there can be no criticism of one who with a view of unfolding the great adventure of Christian

Some complain that the Gospel pill is too conspicuous and y feel that the writer should use a lot more jam to hide it, but y do not suggest the nature of the jam. What shall the author to conceal—a mixture of sweet sentimental nothings? The very of such would destroy the human touch in the story not to ention the natural working of the plot. After all, not all life is und in the setting of a sloppy sentimentalism.

Others accuse the author of creating an atmosphere that is far o mature for the teen age, and that the language employed is over eir heads. This criticism cannot, in some parts of the story, be ushed aside. However, the leading character of this story in its ter development is a girl approaching her thirties, while the ppy fellow who walks off with the prize is ten years "Betty's" nior. Certainly at such an age the presence of mature thinking mes in terms of the normal and is as natural as the presence of sdom teeth. On the whole we have here a true picture of lives hich, through the Spirit, have come to "see light in His light," nce from minds and hearts cleansed from self and sin we see the rkings of that wisdom that is from above.

In our opinion, so far as this book is concerned, the criticism just in respect to the appeal to teen age readers, but we can be e of this that the work will be read with zest by young ladies their twenties and forties, yes, and in their sixties; in fact we e found such fiction in the hands of youngsters in their seventies, d experience proves that the fires of romance never die out; and shall say that folks past the teen age do not need the Gospel?

Maybe, the author through the medium of this book is to mplish what the poor preacher can never do through his sermons, d it will be evident to all that the appeal here transcends anyg that we can associate with the Gospel tract. Folks will often to dodge the latter, but they will not hesitate to peruse the pages this splendid novel. Here is a channel along which saving truth y move to capture the heart of the middle-aged and the people riper years.

Because we all love a story that is well told, there can be no bt as to the success and popularity of this stirring story.

Christian workers should make it their aim to get this book the hands of young people, for not only does this novel offer ellent reading, carrying as it does the human touch, but what is more important, it may save some from a marriage that is worse n a living death, and place such on the road to a "Glorious umph."

BLUE SKIES

By LOUISE HARRISON McCRAW

In this book we have a plot very similar to that found in "Nest ong the Stars," but one of equal interest and vital appeal.

The strength of the work is discovered in the fact that one ot go galloping through on a-wild-horse-of-a-plot with a speed t blurs the vision to the working of underlying principles.

There is great skill displayed in setting forth the distinction een a nominal church member and a real Christian manifesting al experience in Christ. In beautiful colors, the author gives ontrast between that which produces "works' 'and that which s in terms of "a work of faith."

This novel has a great mission and may become the greatest the pastor of the church, and all church leaders, in presenting the limitations of a perfunctory church membership as divorced from salvation in Christ.

The reader is intrigued by the manner in which methods of personal evangelism are presented. On the sweeping crest of a well-told story the reader is carried into the exercise and adoption of the finest and best methods of personal work. Only the skill of the artist can unite the pull of fiction with the power of truth and it is this that Miss McCraw does for us in "BLUE SKIES."

(Published by the Zondervan Publishing House, 202 pages, Price $1.50.)

NEST AMONG THE STARS

By LOUISE HARRISON McCRAW

The title of the book is expressive of the nature and movement of the story, and through the medium of a plot that is framed to excite as well as edify, the author creates a novel which becomes the instrument of a worthy purpose. Here the young reader is faced with a great alternative that sets forth the fact that folks, like the birds, may build high or low, and with the rare touch of the artist gives us to see that the success of the one may be understood through the tragedy of the other.

The reader is carried along with a growing interest by the experiences and doings of the central character, and, in so doing, the reader will enter relationships of life that catch him in their web and hold him captive until he reaches the last page, but more than this, the reader comes face to face with great and eternal principles without being made conscious of being "preached at," or of being bombarded with religion.

The emphasis throughout is growth in the Christian life, and in turn the Christian walk made practical through a life of usefulness.

A most interesting feature of the story is found in the way the author introduces the ministry of tract evangelism. The writer in a most tactful way succeeds in weaving into her book (without being offensive or tiresome) true methods of approach as a soul winner. Even experienced and mature Christians will find a thrill in these pages as they are introduced into the working of this greatly neglected field of tract evangelism.

In this splendid novel we have "bread" without boredom and principles without preaching. In capturing the imagination the author also touches the heart.

Great Conference On Evangelism

Sponsored by SWORD OF THE LORD; Featuring America's Outstanding Evangelists And Gospel Musicians At Historic, Beautiful Winona Lake, Indiana, July 15-21

By Evangelist Robert J. Wells

WINONA LAKE, Ind., May 30—These are days of great opportunity for Christians. In His great mercy God is permitting a renewed interest in evangelism and revivals to sweep over the land. Great, stirring, union evangelistic campaigns are being held in many of the largest cities of the nation, with many thousands turning to Christ. Individual church revivals are being held with greater interest than in many years. A tremendously effective evangelistic program is being blessed of the Lord for the young people of the nation under the direction of "Youth for Christ" movements through which hundred of thousands are meeting on Saturday night all over the land and multiplied hundreds are finding Christ as their Saviour. Thousands of sinners are responding to the Gospel invitation as it is being given over the radio from coast to coast while other thousands are being reached by the printed message of the Gospel which is going forth with more vigor and favor than at any time in the history of our great country. Yes, these are days of opportunity, but they are also days of challenge. We are witnessing only the beginning of what may well be one of the greatest revivals America has ever seen. We are standing on the threshold of what can be one of the greatest spiritual awakenings in the history of Christianity. God give us the vision to see it! Give us the courage to face it, the strength and the spirit of humility and sacrifice necessary fo rthe task.

Conference Planned

Because we feel the importance of the challenge, because we feel our responsibility before God and man to have a greater part in the acceptance of the challenge, because of an overwhelming burden for the millions of lost people in sin-ridden America, the SWORD OF THE LORD has taken the initiative in planning for a great CONFERENCE ON EVANGELISM which will be held, God willing, at the historic and beautiful WINONA LAKE BIBLE CONFERENCE GROUNDS, Winona Lake, Indiana, July 15 to 21, 1945. Assisting the editors of the SWORD OF THE LORD in this great undertaking will be the greatest speakers gathered together in recent years in any evangelistic conference, men who have proven themselves to be real soul winners, powerful evangelists and true servants of the Lord.

Theme and Speakers

The theme of the Conference will be "REVIVAL, THE NEED OF THE HOUR." All of the messages will center around this theme to present the technical, devotional, inspirational and practical aspects of evangelism. Some of the men who will take part in this program are here named:

Dr. Hyman J. Appelman, Ft. Worth, Texas, America's outstanding evangelist; Dr. Sam Morris, San Antonio, Texas, popularly know to thousands of radio listeners as "The Voice of Temperance," widely known evangelist and radio preacher; Dr. Bob Jones, Sr., Cleveland, Tenn., Founder and President of Bob Jones College, successful evangelist for many years; Dr. B. R. Lakin, Pastor, Cadle Tabernacle, Indianapolis, Indiana; Rev. Jesse M. Hendley, Atlanta, Georgia, Pastor, Radio preacher and widely known Spirit-filled evangelist; Rev. G. P. Comer, Pastor, First Methodist Church, Waco, Texas, fiery evangelist; Rev. John W. Troy, President, Interdenominational Association of Evangelists; Rev. Rolfe Barnard, formerly U. S. Army Chaplain, and popular evangelist from Montgomery, Ala.; Dr. John R. Rice, Editor, and Dr. Robert J. Wells, Associate Editor of THE SWORD OF THE LORD.

Music

The music of the Conference will be under the direction of Rev. J. Stratton Shufelt, one of America's greatest evangelistic song leaders and soloists, formerly director of music for the Moody Memorial Church, Chicago, Illinois. Rev. and Mrs. Elbert Tindley, colored Gospel singers with an unusually effective ministry in song, will be featured several times daily. Other nationally and internationally known Gospel musicians will be presented throughout the conference.

Accommodations

This is a conference you will not want to miss. Pastors, evangelists, gospel singers, Christian Business Men, Church Leaders and all who are interested in a really great conference on Evangelism should plan now to attend. The facilities of the Conference Grounds are limited and only 500 people can be adequately accommodated, hence you will have to make your reservation early if you wish to have a part in these good things. God helping us, it will positively be the greatest program of its kind since the days of Billy Sunday.

Suggest Churches Send Pastors

Many churches should make arrangements to send their pastor to this spiritual feast and pay his expenses. It would prove to be one of the greatest investments a church could possibly make.

Send your reservations for rooms and all inquiries concerning the program to Dr. Robert J. Wells, Conference Director, 214 West Wesley Street, Wheaton, Illinois. Do it now so that you may be assured of a reservation.

GREECE NEEDS THE GOSPEL
The need for physical food and clothing is tremendous. But the need for the Gospel is greater. The Allies are supplying the former, but who will give the latter. The Greek American Missionary Association for a quarter of a century has assisted in a pioneer field to lay solid foundations to build upon now. In seven months alone during this war, between 1941 and 1942, we gave to soldiers and civilians in Athens over half a million folders, twenty-five thousand bound books, and tens of thousands of portions and scriptures. Our stocks are entirely depleted. Help replenish Gospel literature for starving souls.
The opportunity is unparalleled to bring the Gospel to the people of Greece. For years we experienced revivals in ATHENS, PIRAEUS, SPARTA, CRETE, MACEDONIA, and elsewhere. Everywhere scores have been led to the Lamb of God. These new converts continue their testimony even unto death. Consecrated young men and women there can do much for the Gospel with little help. Our method is to win Greeks for Christ by training and assisting native Christians. For further information send for our paper, "The Greek Evangel."
